

Why settle for generic training or "off the rack" development when you can have it customized for you and your organization?

Learning and development experiences with Dr. Andrew Johnston pump up your potential and equip your people for the next level. He targets your specific interests and needs. So, his seminars and workshops hit the mark.

Dr. J prepares leaders and teams for real-world challenges and opportunities. His training, coaching, and consultations are focused on results, and he equips clients with insights and strategies they can put to work immediately. This makes the experiences unusually practical and pertinent, and the lessons more enjoyable and enduring.

Dr. J is committed to meeting his clients' needs and preparing them for their unique challenges and opportunities. As a result, they consistently give him five-star reviews, and top teams in corporate, non-profit, military, and government contexts depend on Dr. J's contributions to maximize their culture, engagement, and performance.

Dr. Andrew Johnston unlocks the potential of individuals and teams.

Dr. J is the hip professor you always wanted. He's an expert on leadership and organizational development, but he "gets" you. He connects with you, encourages you, and makes you better every time you meet.

As a trained counselor and seasoned leader, Dr. J understands what makes people and teams tick, and what it takes to make them the best they can be. He knows how to engage them, so they laugh, lean in, and leave the encounter ready to make the most of the opportunities and relationships in their world.

Dr J provides world-class learning and development for every level and creates custom experiences to advance your specific goals. Contact him to consider road-tested and popular curriculums or design your own.

Encourage and equip your rising stars, HiPo's, and other emerging leaders. Transformational training experiences from Dr. J. help you expand the capacity, maximize the impact, and guarantee the retention of your top performers.

Take aim at the specific skills or perspectives your team needs to be exceptional. Dr. J designs custom training sessions and series that advance your team, talent, and culture goals and equip your team for success.

Refine and refuel Leaders-of-Leaders. Don't confine your training to lower levels of your organization. Dr. J creates advanced development sessions for seasoned leaders. These deeper dives engage the real experience of veteran leaders and equip

For more information visit DrAndrewJohnston.com

